BRISTOL: CULTURE AND ECONOMY

03

Bristol is a vibrant city considered the capital of the South West of England, located approximately 120 miles west of London and 45 miles east of Cardiff. The city's population is around 465,000, with over 1 million people within a 45 minute drive.

It boasts a diverse and robust economy, drawing upon a wide range of industries. Long-standing connections with aerospace and engineering are evident through major employers like Airbus and Rolls-Royce in Filton. Other significant sectors include financial services, as well as a thriving tech scene.

Bristol is home to two major universities: the University of Bristol and the University of the West of England (UWE). Collectively, they host over 57,000 students, contributing significantly to the city's vibrant atmosphere and economic vitality. The University of Bristol is currently expanding with a new £300 million campus in Temple Quarter, set to accommodate 3,000 more students by 2025.

Bristol's appeal extends beyond its economic strengths. The city was named European Green Capital in 2015 and has been shortlisted for UK City of Culture 2025. This cultural vibrancy, combined with economic opportunities, attracts a large number of young professionals and students, creating high demand for accommodation. This coupled with Bristol's economic stability and growth potential, makes the city an attractive prospect for property investors
